VARIATION OF A PROBATION ORDER

INFORMATION SHEET

An application to vary a probation order is required where a person has been granted probation and seeks to change the terms of the probation order. The crown attorney or a probation officer can also make an application to vary a probation order. Follow the steps below for making an application:

- Obtain an “Application to Vary a Probation Order” form from any court office or probation office.

- Complete part 1 of the application and attach a copy of your probation order.

- For Individuals on Supervised Probation Orders: Give the completed form to your probation officer/case manager so they can complete part 2. Your probation officer/case manager will then forward the application to the crown attorney to complete part 3.

- For Individuals with Unsupervised Probation Orders: Give the completed application to the crown attorney's office so they can complete part 3.

- If the Crown is not opposed to the change, the application will be forwarded to the court office for the judge's consideration. If the judge approves the change you will be notified in writing.

- If the Crown is opposed to the change or if the judge will not approve the change without a court hearing you will be notified in writing. You will be provided with information explaining how a hearing can be arranged should you wish to continue with your application.
